116 With F.M.L.

Texas Monthly, the Austin magazine, notes that Robert Mann, formerly of Cameron and acting director of journalism at Southern Methodist University, is considering "the idea of starting a country newspaper in the famed East Texas craft town of Edom."

Mann started his career as teenager at The Herald. He has also been night city editor of Fort Worth Star Telegram, assistant city editor of Dallas Times-Herald, among other daily news posts.

The mention included A. C. Greene and Bill Porterfield, also Dallas journalists. TM says the three would "strive for literary essays on Texas rural life in the seventies."

It's probably silly to mention, but the official Girl Scout organization in Washington voted not to admit boys to membership if boys applied.

Boys may be able to participate, if invited, the Girl Scouts say.

Girls are now allowed to join Boy Scout Explorer Division activities, which is the 14 to 21 bracket.

Denial of boys' membership except by invitation to Girl Scouting came by a show of hands at a Girl Scout convention, backing a vote of directors.

Wonder what the NOW organization says about this. That's the women's organization seeking greater equality in various segments of society.

Reports say those wanting boys eligible for Girl Scouts argued it would encourage older girls to remain in scouting.

It seems Girl Scouts are still for girls, unless boys are invited.

New York City may default in November rather than December unless a program to alleviate the situation develops. The President was making a speech Wednesday to the problem.

"Fun City" may yet float out to sea, then sink.

Downtown Cats Threatened, Homes Needed

A group of "city cats" is in peril for their lives unless homes are found for them soon. They are the eight felines who live in the plumbing warehouse behind The Herald and who have been fed and loved by Mr. and Mrs. George "Tex" Miller.

The Millers said they have been told by city officials to get rid of the cats or they will be killed as a sanitary measure. Complaints against the cats have been registered with the health department and the city.

The Millers are known by many other cats who come to the rear of the sandwich shop for food at night, with as many as 14 or 15 showing up for a daily meal. These other "city cats" live in other buildings downtown and mind their own business.

Anyone who would like to give one of these doomed kitties a home is asked to call the Millers at 697-2546.

Highway Dept. Studies Changes For Intersection

Funds have been appropriated in Austin and plans are being drawn up by Texas Highway Department engineers for an improved signal system at the intersection of Highway 77, 190, and Farm Road 485, scene of numerous traffic accidents.

The latest in a series of accidents occurred October 12 and 14, when two people were killed and one injured seriously.

Highway Department Resident Engineer Delton Kittrell of Hearne said engineers are studying the intersection with two possibilities in mind--a system of flashing signals and improvement of the intersection itself.

He said that study will include accident frequency at the intersection. Kittrell said he realized the accidents are usually severe but the study has not yet been completed on that angle.

He said funds are also available to improve the intersection physically, which won't be done until engineers studies are complete. The studies are being done by traffic engineers working with safety engineers.

A system of flashing signals may be installed; however, Kittrell said certain warrants must be fulfilled before such a system is installed.

He said the studies should be completed in a few weeks.

2 Gause Men Die In Wreck

READYING FOR HALLOWEEN--Local 4-H'ers show some of the decorations they will be putting up on the downtown mall in conjunction with the free horror movies to be shown Thursday evening at 8. The movies will include three featurettes and will be sponsored by the Cameron Chamber of Commerce.

Car Skids On Rain-Slickened Milano Overpass

Charges are pending in connection with an accident fatal to two Gause men on a rain-slick overpass in Milano Saturday, according to DPS Trooper Milton Wright of Cameron.

Charles W. Reese, 27, of Gause, was pronounced dead at the scene on US 79 by Cameron Justice of the Peace Jess Brock. A passenger in the same pickup, John B. Chandler, 21, also of Gause, was pronounced dead on arrival at Richards Hospital in Rockdale.

The driver of the pickup, Chandler's 25 - year - old brother, Billy Floyd Chandler, was taken to Richards Hospital and then transferred to Scott and White Memorial Hospital in Temple.

The passengers in the other vehicle, 55 - year - old John Henson and his wife, Doris Henson, both of Palestine, were taken to St. Edward Hospital in Cameron and listed in good condition. Henson suffered broken ribs and his wife received numerous cuts on the face, arms and legs.

Wright said the accident occurred at 3:25 p.m. during heavy rain. Chandler's vehicle apparently skidded into the path of the oncoming Henson vehicle.

He said the accident occurred at the same location that famed singer-entertainer Johnny Horton was killed 15 years ago.

Billy Floyd Chandler underwent surgery late Saturday and remained in satisfactory condition Monday in the intermediate intensive care unit of Scott and White Hospital.

Wright did not say what charges were to be filed and against whom they would be filed.

Pecans, Food To Star In Show

Plans are moving toward completion for the annual Milam County pecan and pecan food show to be held November 8 in the American Legion Hall at 102 N. Main in Rockdale, according to the local county Extension office.

Growers entries will consist of a quart of pecans in a plastic bag with name, address, and pecan variety if known. Entries may be left at Farmers Gin in Buckholts, the county Extension office, or Anderle Lumber Co. in Cameron, or the Chamber of Commerce office in Rockdale prior to Thursday, November 7.

Growers can enter as many varieties as they wish but are limited to one entry in any one variety.

There will be two divisions in the pecan food show--senior division for those out of high school and junior division for those in school. In each division there will be seven classes: cakes, pies, candy, cookies, yeast breads, quick breads, and miscellaneous. All entries must contain pecans.

Any resident of Milam County is eligible to enter.

All items must be at the show by 9 a.m. on November 8. They will be checked in with the class superintendents and judging will start at 9 a.m. Judging will be completed at about 10:30-11 a.m. and all entries after judging are the property of the person who entered it. The individual may sell it, give it away, or take it home.

All entries will be judged and everyone will receive a ribbon. Only one entry per class is eligible.

Following the judging any individual or organization that wishes to may have a bake sale. Several home demonstration clubs are planning sales following the judging. This is a good time to get something good for the weekend or holidays.

Everyone is invited to come, participate, or just see the show.

There will be pecan cracking machines from Winkler's Farms again this year and they will be set up both Friday and Saturday. Individuals may bring in 10 pounds of pecans per person and have them cracked for 10 cents a pound. There will be a machine to do natives and one for improved varieities.

The New Salem and the Tracy-Duncan Home Demonstration Clubs will be doing the decorating and assisting with the set up for the show.

Anyone having any questions may contact the county Extension office.

Pct. 2 Voting Place

Cameron Precinct 2 voters will cast their ballots in Tuesday's constitutional election at the Cameron Community Center at 704 West 6 St., according to an announcement by County Judge O. B. Harden. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. No other changes in voting places have been announced.

Giddings School Views Milam ABE Program

Materials used successfully by the Milam County Adult Basic Education program came under scrutiny by the Giddings State Home and School last Friday as two representatives of the school visited County School Supt. Max McClaren, whose office administers the program.

Stewart Hervey and Mrs. Nell Lewis reviewed material used in the local program with the assistance of McClaren, for possible use in the Giddings instituiuon.

McClaren said that Ralph Mock, director of planning and curriculum for the State Adult Education Program had recommended to John Dodson, superintendent of the Giddings State School that their school use the materials now being used by the Milam County co-op, since these materials have proved so successful in meetings the needs of adult dropouts.

The Giddings State Home and School has approximately 250 boys and girls, ages ranging from 12 to 17.

GIDDINGS VISITORS--County Supt. Max McClaren, right, points out materials used in the Adult Basic Education program to Stewart Hervey, left, and Mrs. Nell Lewis, representatives of the Giddings State Home and School. The school is interested in using materials used so successfully in the Milam County co-op program.

Tuesday Election Puts Constitution On Line

Texas voters will go to the polls Tuesday to make a far-reaching decision -- the adoption or rejection of a new state constitution. There will be eight propositions on the ballot, which may be individually adopted or rejected.

The proposed new state constitution has cost more than $4.5 million and has been two and one-half years in arriving. The voters of Texas will have the final say November 4 as to whether the time and money spent to streamline the present 100-year-old document was worthwhile or in vain.

A number of organizations have come out publicly against the proposals, led by Gov. Dolph Briscoe. Others have been just as keenly supporting the new document.

Outlined here are changes which voters will want to note before making their decision.

LEGISLATIVE ARTICLE

Annual sessions would replace biennial sessions. In odd - numbered years the legislature would meet 140 days and 90 days in even - numbered years.

Although already provided by law, the revised article requires all state legislators to be elected from single-member districts.

It provides for a compensation commission to recommend salaries and allowances for members. Under present law, changes in legislators' salaries must be approved by a majority of state voters.

EXECUTIVE ARTICLE

The governor would be granted new powers, making him a more effective chief executive. It would allow him to appoint chairmen of all state agencies and gives him the authority to remove those appointees for stated reasons. A majority of the membership of the Senate could reject such removals.

The revised article establishes an executive department within the executive branch, consisting of the governor, other elected state officials, appointed secretary of state and others as designated by law. Through this system, agencies in the executive branch are made more accountable to the governor.

To allow the governor to become better informed before entering office, funds would be appropriated and he could require reports from state agencies.

All terms for gubernatorial appointees expire between February 1 and May 1 of odd-numbered years. This would allow an incoming governor to make appointments to major state agencies immediately.

Periodic legislative review of state agencies is required and most state agencies would self-destruct in 10-years unless renewed by the legislature.

The governor is required to submit a budget, although the legislature may elect not to use it. The new charter allows the legislature to grant added fiscal authority to the governor by statute.

JUDICIARY

Most prominent change is the establishment of a unified judicial system consisting of a surpreme court, courts of appeal, district courts and circuit courts. The judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals becomes judges of the new Supreme Court, which have both civil and criminal appellate jurisdiction. There is a limited right of appeal in criminal cases by the State in the revised version.

VOTING AND ELECTIONS ARTICLE

A citizen of the United States who is at least 18 - year - old and meets residency requirements can vote unless that person has been convicted of a felony and is incarcerated or on probation for that felony.

The legislature may provide by law for additional limitations on voting by those convicted of a felony. Property ownership can be a qualification for voting in property tax or tax bond elections.

EDUCATION ARTICLE

Major change in the article would guarantee each student equal educational opportunities. The legislature began to address this problem with a $653.3 million school finance bill. Fifty million dollars of that appropriation went into equalization aid to poor school districts. The proposed constitution continues the general policy of equalization but would allow for local enrichment.

State ad valorem tax of ten cents of the $100 valuation is retained for the benefit of state colleges and universities outside the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems. Both UT and A&M continue to draw from the permanent and available university funds along with all the colleges in their respective systems.

FINANCE ARTICLE

State property taxes are prohibited after 1977, except for the ten cent higher education tax and two-cent tax for state building.

Uniform standards and procedures for appraising property and ad valorem taxes are required, and each county must have a single appraisal of property within its boundaries.

Separate formulas are established for appraising farm, ranch and timber lands.

Other provisions allow property tax exemptions for persons 65 or older, and for veterans organizations, nonprofit water corporations and persons in need because of disability of economic circumstance if the Legislature elects.

There are also revisions requiring a two-thirds vote for the legislature and a majority vote of the voters to approve a state debt. It closes the loopholes in the present pay - as - you go provision.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT ARTICLE

The revisions are far-reaching and allows county voters to create additional offices, combine duties and functions of offices or eliminate offices. Voters may also grant ordinance-making powers to the governing body of the county. The citizens can shape the type of County Government they desire.

GENERAL PROVISIONS ARTICLE

Among items detailed are provisions for requiring the quality of the environment to be protected. It establishes a goal of access to comprehensive health care for all Texans.

MODE OF AMENDING THE CONSTITUTION

Present provisions remain intact except for additions which require that the question on whether to call a constitutional convention be put to a vote every 30 years.

Architectural Attraction...

The new county tax office building makes a compatible architectural addition to the new Milam Jail to complete a handsome Courthouse Square.

The two buildings now close the mall's east side with modern construction. These buildings represent the first major county construction projects since the courthouse was built in 1891.

That's progress. This provides space for years to come, though the jail may need expansion some day. But there is adequate room for an addition to the rear, it seems.

We congratulate the County Commission for seeing the need to expand the service facilities of Milam County in a modern era.

Milam Commissioners Court is not taking a fixed stance against the future, somehow fearful of state government on the one hand and the city government on the other. Many rural Texas county commissions are, evidenced by heavy opposition to the eight elements of the proposed constitution revision.

Milam Commissioners may well know that county government in parts of the country is the modern level of government. Dade County, Florida, which is Miami and Miami Beach, is a metro government combining the incorporated communities throughout that county.

Though Milam County is rural by comparison, that is no reason to be less modern. This new construction plus the remodeled interior of the Milam Courthouse a few years ago acknowledges Milam commissioners are looking forward.

This construction adds to the symmetry and attraction of Cameron, which is Milam's county seat and should be attractive to Milam residents.

More than these, these county buildings add to the services a modern county can give. Milam County is coming to a modern age.

Congratulations.

Milam Area 'Home'...

Yoe High School classes of 1950, 1955, and 1965 have recently held reunions here.

One of the interesting aspects of the people in reunion pictures currently running in this newspaper is that many of them live in the Milam area.

Perhaps a decade ago, when YHS classes held reunions, they more often then came from outside the area.

This development of jobs and residual loyalty to the community is another reason Cameron and Milam County are progressing so well these days.

These local graduates not only have basic loyalty to the area, but the generations behind them find new incentive to encourage their personal development and contribution to the place several generations have called Cameron and the Milam area "home."

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Congress, no doubt, will --as it has in the past for England, France, Germany, Japan, Portugal, Sweden, Belgium and many more I could name if I knew more geography -- bail New York out of its financial crisis, but the thought that it might not opens up a lot of interesting speculation.

For instance, say the city did go under, was abandoned when it was finally realized there really wasn't much point in having 10 million people stacked on top of each other on such a narrow strip of land where nobody has room to keep a milk cow. Can you imagine where all the brains would scatter to?

Take television. I can hear it now: "This is the NBC Nightly News with John Chancelor in Washington and David Brinkely in Cameron."

Now that might be all right but there are more serious problems. Take those Broadway plays. I'm not sure some of them would go over here in Cameron. Or take Wall Street. The last thing we'd need around here would be a bunch of financeiers who were so busy handling money they didn't know their city was going broke. New York reminds me of the young man who woke up one morning and realized his monthly payments on his car, television set, furniture, boat, and power lawnmower totaled more than his monthly salary, with nothing figured in for groceries. No, Wall Street would be more at home in Washington.

What to do with all those tall buildings has me stumped. The only thing I can think of is to just let them stand for a few hundred years till they become a tourist attraction as puzzling as the pyramids. In fact, they'd beat the pyramids. You could stare at them without getting sand in your eyes.

What to do with all the editors, publishers, and writers now stuffed into the city is another problem, but scattering them out over the country might xe beneficita. It'd give them a chance to find out how different the county is from what they thought it was.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Supreme Court Hearing Set On Veto

Texas Supreme Court has agreed to hear a case involving extent of the Governor's veto power and a multimillion dollar higher education construction program.

The High Court November 5 will listen to arguments in the suit brought by Austin architectural firm Jessen Associates Inc. against Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Bullock refused to approve payment of a $2,590 fee to the architects for cost studies on a $10 million addition to The University of Texas law school.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe this year vetoed riders to the new state appropriations bill which sought to give prior legislative authorization to millions of dollars in university construction.

Briscoe cited a 1975 law which required that such projects have approval of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Attorneys for Jessen said court guidance is necessary to settle the issues for state officials and governing boards of all state universities.

Debate Rages On

Voter interest in the great debate over a new state constitution doesn't match that of ardent proponents and opponents.

Checks with key election officials over the state indicate a low turnout in the November 4 constitutional revision election, unless there is a dramatic pickup in citizens' concern during the last week of the blistering campaign.

Oil Allowable Set

For the 44th month, the Texas Railroad Commission set the oil allowable for November at a wide-open 100 per cent.

Production is running an average of 113,047 barrels daily less than in 1974. Imports averaged nearly 4.6 million barrels a day, during a recent four weeks' period, which amounts to an increase of 824,000 barrels from early this year.

As a waste control measure, allowable for the East Texas field was limited to 86 per cent production.

Beach Force Named

Atty. Gen. John Hill appointed a "Beach Task Force" of five assistants to work with coastal county officials to assure open, clean and safe beaches.

Hill said his office is making a detailed survey of environmental protection needs on the Texas coast.

The five assistant attorneys general will be assigned to Jefferson and Chambers counties; Galveston county; Brazoria and Matagorda counties; Calhoun, Aransas, San Patricio and Nueces counties, and Willacy, Cameron, Kleberg and Kennedy counties. Attorneys from the Environmental Protection Division staff in Austin, Houston, San Antonio and McAllen will also be involved.

Session Feared

House Speaker Bill Clayton said banning school fees may cause a special legislative session.

Clayton referred to a recent attorney general's opinion that schools cannot require students to pay fees for driver education, workbooks, lab materials, band uniforms and other items unless the legislature authorizes the charges.

"This will put some of our school districts in a financial bind, and we may need a special session to help them out," the speaker said. "But I hope they can make it until 1977."

Clayton emphasized he is not "beating the drums for a special session."

Courts Speak

Only landowners who show 51 per cent of their income comes from farming or ranching are entitled to a constitutional agricultural tax exemption, the Supreme Court held.

Court of Criminal Appeals overruled a district court's order setting bail at $75,000 for an Odessa man accused of killing his ex-wife.

The Supreme Court upheld a damage award to a Houston man who had money taken from his account by a bank to cover a loss from a forger's having signed his name on the back of a check.

The High Court affirmed a $205,095 medical malpractice award to a Jasper man. In another malpractice suit, the Court upheld lower court rulings which rejected a charity patient's suit against three Houston doctors.

An Austin widow's suit claiming her husband's fatal heart attack was the result of shock from losing his city job was rejected by the Supreme Court, denying the workman's compensation benefits.

AG Opinions

Where a Teacher Retirement System member is murdered by his beneficiary, no benefits should be made until a constructive trust has been imposed by court order, Attorney General Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

An amendment establishing foreign student tuition rates does not affect the minimum tuition rates a junior college may charge non-resident students.

The Texas Savings and Loan Act does not authorize political subdivisions to invest in savings accounts of savings and loan associations without regard to legal restrtictions found elsewhere.

The Texas Adjutant General should make available copies of his statements regarding an investigation of employee records under the Open Records Act, but other information in the investigatory file is not subject to disclosure.

Appointments

Governor Briscoe appointed District Judge George E. Cire of Houston associate justice of the 14th Court of Civil Appeals and elevated Associate Justice Curtiss Brown to chief justice of the court effective January 1. Presley E. Werlein Jr. of Houston was named to succeed Cire as 165th district judge.

Briscoe placed A. Burke Haymes of Houston, Don M. Lyda of Austin and Charlie S. Williams of Lubbock on the Board of Public Accounting.

James E. Keeter of San Antonio and George H. Hall Sr. (reappointee) of Dallas were named to the Board of Landscape Architects.

Paul J. Cromwell Jr. of Huntsville was named to the Board of Pardons and Paroles by Presiding Judge John F. Onion of the Court of Criminal Appeals. Board member Charles G. Shandera at the same time stepped down and took Cromwell's old job as a Parole Commissioner.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

FOREIGN GLUTTING OF U. S. FISHERIES HAS CONGRESS FUMING

Senator Henry M. Jackson (Wash.) ". . . I am pleased that Congress is acting rapidly on much-needed legislation to protect America's fishery resources and the American fishermen who earn their livelihood by harvesting those resources. . .

"S.961, the Magnuson Fisheries Management and Conservation Act, would extend the contigous fisheries zone of the United States to 200 nautical miles, and would give the United States management authority over anadromous fish spawned in our waters throughout their migratory range.

"Much of the overfishing off our coasts is caused by large, highly efficient foreign fleets--heavily subsidized or actually owned by foreign governments. . .

"In 1960, Soviet fishing vessles reported taking 68,000 tons of fish off Georges Banks. By 1965, Soviet exploitation had expanded to the Continental Shelf area of Georges Bank down to the Chesapeake Bay and their catch reached over half a million tons, far in excess of the U. S. catch.

"By 19, several other countries had joined in the harvest and the foreign take grew to more than 1 million tons. . .

"The U. S. share began to decline and today our fleets take only about 12 percent of the catch in the southern New England area and only 10 percent from the Georges Bank area. . .

"It is clear that the Russians are the primary cause of the overfishing in the New England area. I do not believe that New England fishermen shall be put out of work or our coastal fisheries resources destroyed simply because we want to get along with Russian or any other country. Detente should be based on mutual accommodations and respect for each others national interest, not on giveways of American natural resources such as fish or grain. . .

"I would point out that other nations are already asserting jurisdicition out to 200 miles.

"I expect that both the Senate (S. 961) and the House (H. R. 200) will pass this legislation by a heavy margin. I hope that the President will sign it, despite the opposition of the State Department. . .'

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Approximately 25 different stocks of fish are considered at a low level and threatened with depletion. Every American has a stake in protecting this natural resource. We can follow the example set by the foreign oil producers.

The stork is held sacred in Sweden, from the legend that it flew round the cross crying "Stryka, Stryka:" when Jesus was crucified.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Dear Frank:

I read your column in the October 20 issue of your paper, and I wanted you to know in my opinion it is excellent. You are to be praised highly on your stand for the proposed constitution.

The proposed constitution is not a perfect document, but it is far superior to the old. It is belittling to think there are those in the state who oppose it.

As a legislator who has worked hard in promoting the proposed constitution, I feel encouraged that someone of your caliber is doing the same.

Sincerely,
Dan Kubiak

Reducing plan for energy users

Plan C How to save electricity when using ranges

1. When using top-of-range utensils, cover tightly and cook with minimum of water. Cooking's faster; less energy's used. Food looks and tastes better, too.
2. Use flat-bottomed utensils for best contact with heating surface. Use proper size utensils. A 6" pan on an 8" heating surface wastes energy.
3. Preheat oven only when needed and only to temperature stated. Normal preheat is 10 minutes; any longer wastes energy.
4. When broiling, do not preheat. Leave door ajar...air circulation insures proper broiling.
5. Use oven fully. Fill it with foods that cook at same temperature. Freeze extras for later use.
6. Center pans in from oven sides, staggered above each other (no overlap) for best heat distribution.
7. Keep oven shut. Opening door drops temperature 25° or more; wastes energy.
8. Thaw frozen meats before cooking.
9. Do not use oven or surface heating elements for home heating.
10. Turn range off immediately when finished.

Conserve electricity and you help conserve one or more of the fuels needed to produce it: natural gas, coal and oil. Conserve fuels and you help assure that there will be enough to meet essential needs for electricity in the future.

Patman To Meet Voters At Rockdale Saturday

Senator Bill Patman will be in Rockdale on Saturday, November 1, and the public is invited to come meet with him at 2:30 p.m. to discuss the new constitution. The meeting will be held at the Lucy Hill Patterson Memorial Library.

For the several weeks before Tuesday's important election on constitutional revision, Senator Patman has been traveling throughout the 13 counties of his senatorial district, holding public meetings, speaking to service clubs, and answering questions on the eight proposed constitutional amendments.

Though he is supporting all eight propositions, Senator Patman emphasizes that he is primarily concerned that voters be provided with accurate information on the issues.

Attempting to boil down the issues in the upcoming election, Senator Patman has constructed an "agree-disagree" test of 50 statements which identify many of the essential changes represented by the amendments. Copies of that test, "pro" and "con" materials prepared by the Texas Legislative Council, and other information will be available at the November 1 meeting.

"All of the propositions are important," said Senator Patman, "but Number Five has particular significance for agricultural areas. It would prohibit a retail sales tax on farm tractors and implements, as well as on feed, seed, and fertilizer. It would also prohibit a sales tax on food and prescription medications.

"If this proposition is turned down by the voters, I fear that some of the urban legistators might jump to the conclusion that a tax on such items has been mandated by the voters, when and if additional tax revenues become necessary.

"If Proposition Five is not adopted, I am certain that a retail sales tax of four, five, or six percent on farm machinery will be put into effect within two to four years," he said.

Senator Patman stressed the importance of not taxing basic imputs--feed, seed, and fertilizer.

Because nuclear power is cheaper than electricity generated from coal, it will help hold down energy costs.

County Agent's Notes

Pecan Crop A Question Mark

By Bill McCutchen

Pecan producers are unsure of the yield and quality of the 1975 pecan crop. 1975 was to be a big pecan year for the county with a good set of pecans in the spring. Disease has been the big culprit this year. Insects have not been too difficult to control even though they have been numerous. Pecan Scab is the disease that has taken the toll of pecans in both quality and volume. Pecan scab which causes black lessions on the pecan hull was especially severe this year with an extremely wet spring and summer.

Charlie Mayer classes his pecan crop as only fair and Gene Angell, manager of the Randall Lake farms, said that scab had taken a heavy toll of his improved varieites.

These two situations seem to be rather typical this year.

One variety continues to stand out as the top improved variety for Milam County and anyone considering planting one pecan tree or a hundred would do well to take note. E. J. Provasek has been preaching about the merits of the "Desirable" pecan for years and its merits were even more noteworthy this year.

The "Desirable" has excellent scab resistance as was proven again this year and in addition it is a good quality pecan and a good producer. We would have done well to have paid more attention to disease resistance 30 years ago and since this is one thing that can be handled for the most part from variety selection, I join E.J. in praising the "Desirable" pecan variety.

Soil Tests

A soil test is one of the best investments a farmer can make. If you have never had your soil tested or it has been 3 or 4 years since it was tested, you are likely spending some of your fertilizer money unwisely.

You may be applying more of one element that you need or worse yet, you may be shortchanging your crop in one element and cutting yields. In either of these situations, you are not using your fertilizer dollar to the best advantage.

Seminar Speaker Raps Excessive Federal Spending

UVALDE

There's nothing mysterious about the inflation presently shackling the U. S. nor its solution, says Dr. W. Philip Gramm.

This is the fifth major inflation -- and the longest -- the country has suffered since the Revolutionary War and the cause has always been the same, emphasizes the Texas A&M University Economist, now on leave and a candidate for the U. S. Senate seat currently held by Lloyd Bentsen.

"Excessive federal spending which sends the government into the money markets to compete with private industry and individuals for the funds it failed to collect in the form of taxes, then paying off with newly printed money it neither worked for nor earned."

"The classic result then and now is high interest rates and soaring costs brought on by a shortage of goods and services in relation to the money supply."

Although painful to politicians there is a sure solution, he told lenders representing 25 counties in Southwest Texas at the Second Annual STAR Agricultural Finance Seminar here last week (Oct. 21-23).

"The only way to stop inflation is to slow the growth of government spending. Put the federal government on a balanced budget like everyone else."

Last year, Gramm noted, federal spending rose 21 percent while that of the private sector declined four percent.

He blamed soaring unemployment in the auto industry and the virtual collapse of the construction business on inflation, "90 percent caused" by government deficit spending.

The forthright Gramm, who talked without notes or pause, is 100 percent opposed to any bailout of New York City by the federal government.

Denying the city is broke to begin with ("it's the richest city in the world"), he said New York faced up to a similar credit crunch in 1932-33 and worked its way out by cutting spending, adopting a real austerity program and requiring its employees to be more productive.

"In five years its bonds were once again highly prized in the investment markets."

If the city and its bondholders today "knew beyond the shadow of a doubt" there would be no federal intervention "they would work it out again," he promised. "New York City absolutely can't afford to be cut off from the capitol markets."

Other observations:

Agriculture will become the most important industry in the U. S. because the only way we have to pay our staggering oil bills is with agricultural commodities. Because of it the U. S. farmer will finally have the chance to do what he's always wanted to do -- produce non-stop.

"I find it ludicrous that the President has to deal with George-Meany -- the Czar of Agriculture -- before approving grain sales to Russia. I don't remember voting for him and I resent it."

Dinner speaker Bob Armstrong, state land commissioner, may have put his finger on the crux of several contemporary vesations when he said, "the American people hate the energy crisis and inflation but they love everything that causes them."

William F. "Bill" Aldridge, examiner for the Texas Banking Department, outlined five factors which must be considered by any banker in evaluating an agricultural loan:

1. The Borrower. "There's no more important ingredient than the honesty and financial capability of the individual receiving the loan."

2. Financial Condition and Progress. "A history of increasing net worth and reduction of outstanding obligations indicate a competent manager."

3. Capacity to Repay. Estimates should be based on size of unit, market price of product, fixed overhead and living costs ("Some borrowers live like oil sheiks while losing money on their operations. Banks continue to loan them dollars basing ultimate collection on refinancing the customer's real estate.").

4. Purpose. "Operating loans, such as crop loans, should be distinct from capital loans, such as equipment purchase money, since operating loans are paid operating loans are paid from current income and capital loans from net income over a period of years."

5. Collateral. "Collateral demands should be reasonable in relation to the amount of debt financed but adequate to protect the bank against loss. If possible, collateral should be appraised by someone other than the lending officer."

The seminar, held at Uvalde Civic Center, was cosponsored by the Hill Country Bankers Association, Wintergarden Bankers Association, The Southwest Texas Agricultural Resources (STAR) Program, and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Farm-facts

Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Drouth In the Making? . . . Wheat Pasture Poor . . . More Citrus On The Way? . . . Pecan Crop Nearly Double In State.

Dry weather in Texas as well as Oklahoma and Kansas has already hurt wheat pasture availability and could have an effect on production. It's too early to push the panic button, but the current dry spell has had some adverse effects already.

As of the first of this month, only about one per cent of the fall seeded wheat in Texas, Kansas and Oklahoma had sufficient growth to support grazing. And during the first three weeks of October, the situation hasn't improved a great deal.

Wheat seeding in Texas is behind the normal schedule. A three-year average of 74 per cent completion has occurred in the state, but this year seeding is below the average.

Much of the acreage has been dry planted. Early seeded fields are making poor to fair growth because of the short moisture and grazing is not yet readily available. An increase of two to fourfold in wheat planting has been noted in many Central Texas counties.

WHILE WHEAT SEEDING IS DUE TO BE COMPLETED soon, farmers are busy with harvesting of other major crops. Cotton harvest is around a third completed. Corn harvest is virtually complete. Yields are expected to be at record highs this season for Texas.

Sorghum harvest is also heading into the final stages with the second highest production on record.

Peanut production is still set at 474,300,000 pounds, which is 15 per cent more than 1974. Harvest is moving ahead and is now more than three-fourths finished.

Soybean harvest is getting into high gear on the High Plains where a good crop is in prospect. East Texas and the Blacklands report reductions in yields. A better crop than last year is expected on the Upper Gulf Coast.

Sugarbeet harvest is nearing the one-fourth completion mark, and guar harvest has progressed satisfactorily.

IF YOU LIKE PECANS, you'll be happy to know that production this year in Texas is up 45 per cent from last year, and nationwide there is more than a 75 per cent increase in production potentials.

Texas' pecan crop this year, estimated at 55,000,000 pounds, will be about a fourth of the total production for the nation. U. S. production is estimated at 242,200,000 pounds. This is down seven per cent from last month, but is still up 77 per cent from last year's crop.

Improved varieties are expected to account for 49 per cent of the crop compared with 62 per cent last year. Pecan harvest is underway in most areas of the state.

TEXAS' FAMED CITRUS CROP continues to expand. Licensed citrus nurserymen and private citrus nurserymen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley reported 317,000 citrus trees moved from nurseries to groves from July 1, 1974 to June 30, 1975. This is 29 per cent above the previous year and the totals reflect new plantings in commercial groves.

Of the total number, 99 per cent are grapefruit. About 63 per cent of the new grapefruit plantings are of the Ruby Red varieties.

Movement of orange trees remained constant. Plantings, at 1,000 trees, were equal to the previous season.

Farm Group Passes Resolutions

On October 25 the Milam County Farmers Union elected Charles Ed Hensley president, Willie Moraw vice president and Paul Dillon secretary.

These resolutions were passed:

To ask the highway department to shred the entire area on each side of the road to keep down fires and rodents, and to erect a flashing light at the intersection of highways 77 and 190.

To sell farm commodities to communist countries if we get something tangible in return.

The organization came out against embargoes of farm products, against the government allowing labor leaders to dictate farm policy, against using farming for tax shelters and infavor of raising the inheritance tax exemption from $60,000 to $200,000.

COTTON REPORT

Trading for the week ending October 24 was dead as prices offered dropped another 500 points, reports J.B. Russ, officer in charge, Austin Classing Office. According to the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, no new crop cotton has sold this season in the Brazos River bottom area, while through the remainder of the territory over 50 percent of the current crop has sold. Cottonseed prices were $75 in the Upper Coastal Bend, $95 in the Central Texas Blacklands, and $105 along the Brazos River Bottom.

Lee Remick Portrays Churchill's Mother

By David Finch

NEW YORK

Reuter--Lee Remick looks nothing like Jennie Jerome. But that didn't stop her winning Britain's equivalent of an Emmy for her portrayal of the vivacious Brooklyn-born girl who became mother of Winston Churchill.

Miss Remick's highly-praised title role in "Jennie: Lady Randolph Churchill" will be seen on October 8 when the Public Broadcasting Service holds the American premiere of its latest British import, to be seen in seven weekly parts.

Although Miss Remick is an experienced actress, this is the first time she has played a historical role or a real person. At a preview of the series she called the experience "tremendous fun."

She disclosed that she had wanted to play the part of Jennie since reading a biography of her five years ago. Her wish came true early last year when she was chosen to star in the production by James Cellan Jones, who directed episodes in the widely acclaimed "Forsythe Saga."

As Sir Winston's widow noted recently, her mother-in-law didn't look a bit like Lee Remick. True, both have blue eyes, but Jennie was small, dark, and well-rounded while Lee is slim and blonde.

Both were American and acquired British husbands, but their life styles were vastly different.

"There is no similarity between us in terms of social life, nine-tenths of which I loathe," Miss Remick said. "I never give parties; I am not the magical hostess Jennie was. With her it was one party after another. She would go out to dinner, come home at about 10 p.m., then change and go out to a ball until three in the morning. That is the kind of social life I couldn't have stood. I'm much more private than Jennie."

But despite that personal differences, British critics agreed that Miss Remick captured Jennies' character when the series was shown last October on commercial television.

The Times of London described it as "performance of much delight." Other critics agreed and Miss Remick won three major awards last season for best actress. The Society of Film and Television Arts award; the Sun Award, voted by readers of the Sun Newspaper; and the Compere award.

The Churchill family, including Baroness Churchill, also loved the series. In fact, one of Jennie's grandsons, Peregrine Churchill, co-authored a book about his grandmother that grew out of research for the series.

Much of the filming was done on location at the Churchill family residence of Blenheim Palace, Narwick Castle and Salisbury Hall.

The producer, Cellan Jones, said that shooting in such historic surroundings was an eerie feeling. In particular in filming the birth of Sir Winston in the room at Blenheim Palace where he was born, with the same bed and same linen.

"The sense of history sometimes became overwhelming," he said.

Miss Remick agreed, saying it was an extraordinary feeling to lie on the bed and look up at the celing of the tiny room.

Cellan-Jones said filming the the rooms, some huge, some small, was a challenge. So was working with some of the present tenants, and once he had to throw the Duke of Marlborough out of his own dining room at Blenheim.

The series features Jennie's life from her arrival in England at the age of 19 to her death in 1921 at the age of 67. It covers her marriage to Lord Randolph Churchill, younger son of the Duke of Marlborough; her widowhood and second marriage to George Cornwallis-West; their divorce, and her third marriage to Montague Porch.

PBS won the rights from Thames television to show the series despite strong interest from the major American networks.

Cooking News--Festive Flair On A Budget

Everything's going up — especially the already high cost of feeding a family. Meat prices soar as overworked cooks struggle to find ways of stretching the weekly food budget.

Now there's cooking news —a whole new way to cook that makes budget-stretching possible while serving appetite-appealing, delectable meals. Festive flair on a budget comes with see-through oven cooking, a whole new way to go.

The culinary breakthrough is the easy way to cook, in oven wraps and bags. Now budget beef, such as short ribs, turns glamorous as it cooks and browns in the film. There's little watching or tending needed since the film does all the work. The beef remains moist and juicy since it bastes itself in the film.

After dinner the busy homemaker finds her oven clean (there's no spatter since all the cooking is done inside the film) and her pan spotless. Most of her cleanup is only a memory of the old-fashioned, outdated cooking methods.

Short ribs are just one easy, delectable dinner that's designed to please the family and stretch the budget sensibly. Lamb shanks, pot roasts, chicken and other meats and seafoods on special can be done deliciously in film, even if the cook is new to kitchen duty. Taste-treat results are almost guaranteed if simple package directions are followed.

First, a tablespoon of flour must be sprinkled inside the film—just before the meat goes in. After adding all ingredients, the wrap or bag is sealed, holes are punched atop the bag and it's ready for a baking pan that's large enough to hold it comfortably.

The oven cooking is the happy news since there's nothing to watch and little work to do. Film cooks the meat to a festive flair. And it's all done on a budget!

Italian-Style Short Ribs

2½ pounds short ribs, cut into 2-inch pieces
3 slices bacon, cut up
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup beef bouillon
¼ cup dry red wine
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon crushed Italian herb seasoning or marjoram or oregano
½ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup water
Italian green beans

Sprinkle one tablespoon flour in film and shake to distribute evenly. Place short ribs, butter and bacon in cooking film bag or wrap, closing one end if using wrap. Place in baking pan. Mix bouillon, wine, lemon juice, salt, seasoning and pepper. Pour over short ribs. Fasten and vent bag or wrap as directed on package. Bake in 350 degree oven for 2 hours.

Cut bag open. Pour meat and sauce into baking pan. Stir in cornstarch mixed with water. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Serve short ribs and sauce with hot cooked Italian green beans. Makes 4 servings.

NO MARRIAGE AVOIDANCE?

Attention confirmed bachelors: during the days of the Roman Empire, marriage avoidance was so widespread, the Emperor Augustus passed laws against it.

Texans:

If you are tired of bigger government and higher taxes, vote NO on the proposed new constitution November 4.

Don't give future Legislatures a blank check.

The Houston Chronicle calls the new constitution "a dangerous document." Governor Dolph Briscoe warns it will "lead us down the road to a state income tax."

Governor Briscoe says: "It is my personal view that the current Constitution under which Texas has grown and prospered for a century is preferable to the proposed new constitution. Accordingly, I believe it is in the best interest of Texas that all eight propositions on the ballot be rejected."

Play it safe. Keep our present Constitution by voting NO on Tuesday, November 4.

World Community Day Set Here

Church Women United in Cameron will celebrate World Community Day on Friday, November 7 at Lights Chapel Baptist Church at 2 p.m.

On that day thousands of church women will gather in their local communities to commit themselves to work toward a global society in which all persons have the opportunity to realize their aspirations in "One Community Under God."

A year ago, women from every state and many nations came together in the triennial Ecumenical Assembly of Church Women United to consider the enormous problems of today's world, to identify the barriers which prevent a majority of the earth's people from living freely and fully, and to rededicate themselves, as a body, to work for a global society based on human values instead of economic ambition. They realized that today's human society is inseparably interwoven and that the massive problems of the world -- hunger, poverty, war, the depletion and misuse of natural resources and sources of energy, the destruction of the environment, and the deprivation of human rights -- can best be approached as problems confronting the entire global village.

The dream of one community is not new for Church Women United. The goal of building a world community which lives in peace was one of the cornerstones of this movement when it began. In 1941, during the week of Pearl Harbor, when the constituting convention of the United Council of Church Women met in Atlantic City, one of its first acts was to inaugurate a day of peace.

Do you like to build things . . . a bird house or a skyscraper? If you are such a person, you know that plans are involved, often difficult ones. Usually we use the drawing board before we start building.

Making plans may be called foresight or looking ahead — and we all know that this is necessary whether building an object or building your life.

As you make plans for the future, don't overlook one of the most effective and time-honored aids in building a strong character — your church! Like millions before you, you may find just what you need to make your plans succeed.

Achieve success? This is what we all want and what we plan for. Start your planning now by going to church next Sunday.

Yoemen Face 2 and 5 Eagles

The Yoemen will face the Hearne Eagles who celebrated a 20-0 win last week over the Rosebud-Lott Cougars. The Eagles have had a disappointing season this year after a 6-4 season in '74.

The Eagles will be depending on the services of quarterback Melvin Bates to test the Yoemen in the District 23AA grid test.

The 185 lb. QB will command the running game that has proven to be the Eagles' strong point. Alonzo Hammond will be the starting halfback for the Eagles and is the strongest runner on the club. He is a 170 pound senior that is extremely quick and has the hands to be a threat on the pass play.

The talent packed Eagles have trouble in establishing a tough offensive strategy. The offensive line average weight is 173, with the backfield tipping the scales at 176 pounds.

They possess as many different sets as they have number of players. The offense will be packed with changing excitment.

For the defense the Eagles will bring 174 pounds across the line which is one of the lightest that the Yoe offense has faced this season.

The defense is stacked with individual talent that is spotlighted by Hammond and Larry Murphy in secondary.

They will set up a 6-2 stack defensive set and will play tough defense on the front line.

Head Coach Robert Davis and the Hearne Eagles will be looking for a redeeming of their season by doing their homeowrk for this all important District 23AA clash.

Kickoff time has been set at 8 p.m. at the Yoe High Stadium with ticket sales continuting through Friday noon at the Yoe High Principals office. According to Minta Miller, high school secretary, there are still reserved tickets available.

SPORT SPOTLIGHT

By FORREST GUESS

A Check. . .

No one could be as strong as you, Cameron. Ooops! The 31-0 whipping wasn't enough. There must be something wrong, somewhere. Yoemen beware--Charlie Chan and Columbo are investigating the team, so I understand.

It will take the expertise of the fictional television characters to snoop out even the slightest of non-existant mistakes.

I understand that some of our comrades in District 23AA have been around checking on the fine points at the courthouse.

This could be interpreted as a cheap shot after a pretty good whipping on the field. However, I remember that Bryan was checked and was found to have an illegal player, Richard Harris.

Go ahead and snoop. The Yoemen have no skeletons in their closet. How about yourself?

Number One. . .

The Yoemen maintain their number one defensive rating in the state, and well they should. The Yoe Fence performed well against Elgin last Friday night.

The Yoe Fence only allowed the Wildcats to cross the 50 one time the entire evening. The secondary was given a little rest because of the front-line holding the Wildcats to a mere 39 yards rushing for the entire night's work.

Also picked in the 'Number One' slot is another Milam County team, the Rockdale Tigers. Wow!. . .What an offense! The Tigers have formulated the strongest offensive machine in the state.

Great job Coach Fred Johnson. Your defense is o.k., also. You don't have to travel far to find the 'Number Ones.'

Graham Said. . .

"I think this was our finest defensive night we have had. Our two tackles, Joe Smitherman and Jimmy Kohutek have played 7 games of outstanding ball.

"Jimmy has really contributed a lot to the game. Brian Cobb had a great job also against Elgin.

Huffman Said. . .

"Our secondary really wasn't tested too much against Elgin but our line did a great job.

"They kept the pressure off the secondary. Ronnie Bennett had probably his finest night against Elgin. He really played fine defense against them.

Cauley Said. . .

"Elgin's game plan last Friday was to keep us from scoring on quick and explosive plays. They wanted to make it slow and wait for us to make mistakes.

"It was 7-0 at halftime and we went in and decided to come out and get some points on the board before something happened. We called on Brian Wilkinson who did an excellent job at four positions. Especially on the fullback position we got the ball moving and after the next score it was over.

"We haven't had any major penalities, this shows that our men are doing their job and thinking. The line has really performed well the past two games.

"About Hearne, they are a quick team but they are not real big. They are a running team and will set up a stack six defense.

"We will have to play alert football because everyone will get up to beat Cameron.

"We need your support, and we will continue to play one game at a time. We must concentrate on the job at hand. Our only schedule is Hearne, Manor, Rosebud-Lott."

Yoe J.V. Downs Elgin, 12-6

The Yoe JV increased the win column in their season ledger by downing the Caldwell JV 12-6 in Thursday night football action at Yoe Field.

The record stands at 4-2 for the season.

The JV opened the scoring in the second quarter when Eroll Spells got the call from QB Bobby Burton and sailed in from 45 yards out. The PAT failed and Yoe took command 6-0.

Before the half time buzzer sounded, Elgin scored on a short play up the middle after taking the ball 60 yards on the drive. The two point conversion failed.

To open the third quarter James Thompson covered a loose ball and set up the next score for the Yoemen.

Bobby Burton cocked his arm and connected on a long bomb to Curtis Wise who rambled his way to the one yard line. Burton then took the ball on a quarterback sneak and plunged in behind the center to score. The PAT failed and the Yoe JV led 12-6.

According to Coach Hoelscher the defensive standouts were Alan Richardson, Stanley Schigut, Richard Raymond, and John McIntrye with two interceptions.

Coach Hoelscher said, "Offensively, I felt that Eroll Spells and Jon Schmidt both had a real fine night."

TALENT SPOTLIGHT '75

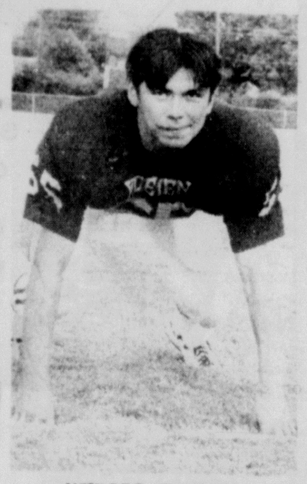
STANLEY MANNERS



YSIDORO TAMEZ

Stanley Manners, or should we say Captain Manners, is a two year letterman who is the starting outside linebacker for the Yoe Fence. At 5'9" and 158 lbs, Stanley is able to bring many offensive opponents to his mercy.

The 17-year old senior is also the backup tailback for Jafus White. Stanley serves as one of the captains on this years Yoeman ball team who wears the familiar jersey number 25.

His speed is second-to-none and he has turned in a 50.8 quarter and is a member of the Regional Mile Relay team. He is a two-year track letterman. He also was a member of the freshman and sophomore basketball teams.

Stanley is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and is the treasurer for the Slide Rule Club.

He has been selected as the parliamentarian on the Student Council and has served as freshman and sophomore class president.

Stanley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Manners of 600 New House Ave. in Cameron. He has two brothers, Jeffery and Jerry, and one sister, Elma.

I asked Stanley how he feels about the season and he said, "I feel that the season is going real well. It is going as expected and by December 20 we should be the State Champions."

Size doesn't make that much difference, and it doesn't when you see Ysidoro Tamez, 145 pounds and 5'7", filling the back-up guard position on offense.

On defense Ysidoro backs up the defensive tackle slot along with being a kicking specialist. Ysidoro has scored 4 points for the Yoemen.

The 18-year old senior is a first year letterman and proudly wears number 55.

He is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and is also an active member in the Spanish Club.

Ysidoro has plans to play on the varsity tennis team this season.

He is the son of Mrs. Mary G. Tamez of 401 Walnut in Cameron. He has two brothers, Ruben and Dan, both of whom are out of school. He also has six older sisters, Felicita, Minnie, Mary, Margaret, Alice, and Esperanza.

He has plans to enter the military after he graduates and feels that the Air Force will be his pick.

He is presently an employee for Keith's Minimax where he has worked for the past several years.

I asked Ysidoro how he feels about the season and he said, "We are doing more and we have our hopes up. Everyone is giving their best for the team."

He picks A&M and Houston as his favorite college teams.

O. J. Thomas Sports

Football

The O. J. Thomas football teams split the evening with Hearne last Thursday night, when the OJT 7th graders fell to defeat 22-19, and the 8th graders tied the Eagles 14-14.

In the 7th grade game the extra points made the difference with the Eagles connecting on each PAT and the OJT Yoe Yoes missing on each attempt.

In the 8th grade grid action the Yoe Yoes tied the previously unbeaten Ealges. previously unbeaten Eagles. In 2 years as 7th and 8th graders, the Eagles had never lost or tied a game and have had only 14 points scored against them. They have been averaging 40 points a game for the past two seasons.

In the 7th grade battle, the Eagles scored on their first possession and took the ball on their second possession and again broke into paydirt for six.

The tides changed when the Yoe Yoes offense started a 40 yard drive that was culiminated on a 6 yard sweep by Rusty Crummer.

Crummer set the pigsking on the tee and then booted a one-side kick that was received by Yoe Jasper Harden. The Yoe Yoes then took 4 plays before scoring.

The scoring came on a power play up the middle by James Mondrik who dashed in from 20 yards out. At half time Hearne led 16-12.

In the third quarter the Eagles increased their lead by scoring mid way through the quarter.

The Yoe Yoes only had the ball in their possession for three plays the entire second half. Cecil Jones intercepted a mis-guided Eagle pass and scrambled to the 10-yard line.

Crummer got the call on a reverse play that took him into the end zone untouched for the final TD. The final score proved the Eagles just extra points better, 22-19.

For the 8th grade Yoe Yoes it was revenge time after two whippings of over 50 points each as 7th graders.

Hearne took the opening kick off and in four plays drove the pork across the magic line for six. The PAT failed.

Yoe Yoe QB Dow Dodd connected with Dean Lewis on a TD pass play. A first for the Eagles was a look from behind when Dow Dodd hit Terry Lowe on a 2 point conversion. Yoe led 8-6.

The Eagles broke on a third quarter possession and Dean lewis saved a score when he downed the Eagles running back at the 5 yard line.

On a fourth down play the Eagles scored and connected on a two point conversion try. The Eagles took a sligh 14-8 lead.

On defense Dean Lewis found a pitch out and ran it back 50 yards for the final touchdown of the night. The PAT failed and the game ended 14-14 with the Yoe Yoes in possession of the ball on the Eagle 20 yard line.

Both OJThomas teams will host Rosebud Jr. High with the game times set at 6 p.m. and 7:30.
